

Gabriel D. Rosenberg

Mr. Rosenberg is an associate in Davis Polk's Financial Institutions Group. He advises financial institutions, corporations and trade associations on the requirements, impact and implementation of the Dodd-Frank financial reform legislation. In this area, he focuses on the regulatory treatment, trading and clearing of derivatives and the Volcker Rule proprietary trading restrictions. Mr. Rosenberg also played a key role in the development of the Davis Polk Regulatory Tracker, the Davis Polk Dodd-Frank Progress Report and other tools meant to help market participants understand and implement Dodd-Frank. He is the co-editor of the new treatise OTC DERIVATIVES REGULATION UNDER DODD-FRANK: A GUIDE TO REGISTRATION, REPORTING, BUSINESS CONDUCT AND CLEARING and served as a Lecturer on the Faculty of the University of California at Berkeley's Haas School of Business in Spring 2014. Mr. Rosenberg received his undergraduate degree from Harvard University in 2004, a Masters in Applicable Mathematics from the London School of Economics in 2005 and his JD from the Yale Law School in 2009.
